

KOPIN CORPORATION (NASDAQ: KOPN)

Kopin Corporation is a leading developer and provider of innovative display and optical technologies, selling critical components and higher-level subassemblies for military, industrial, enterprise, medical and consumer products. Kopin's technology portfolio includes ultra-small Active Matrix Liquid Crystal displays (AMLCD), Liquid Crystal on Silicon (LCOS) displays and Organic Light Emitting Diode (OLED) displays, a variety of optics and low-power ASICs.

Innovation is in our DNA; and Kopin has developed and commercialized game-changing technologies that have enhanced the way people see, hear, and communicate. For nearly three decades, Kopin has been developing technologies required for wearable computing headsets and mobile devices. Kopin has contributed to the development of helmet-mounted displays for the F-35 Joint Strike Fighter, supplied electronic viewfinders for digital still camera brands, such as Fujifilm, Nikon and Samsung, and collaborated on many wearable products with a range of companies including RealWear, Motorola Solutions and Panasonic.

Today Kopin is enabling a new tomorrow in which computing technology becomes a seamless extension of the human experience. Kopin's focus is on helping its customers develop wearable headsets and glasses more rapidly. Kopin's technology portfolio of ultra-small displays, innovative optics and low-power ASICS enables customers to accelerate the development of their products. Kopin has more than 200 global patents and patents pending in these areas.

Kopin has two wholly owned subsidiaries: Forth Dimension Displays Limited located in Scotland and NVIS Inc. located in Virginia. Forth Dimension Displays offers ferroelectric LCOS devices for spatial light modulators and high-resolution imagers. NVIS offers high-resolution, near-eye display systems designed for high-fidelity immersive training and simulation.
